Australian Teacher Workforce Survey 2025

Amplify teachers' voices – Support the 2025 Australian Teacher Workforce Survey

The Australian Teacher Workforce Survey is now open – and it's an important opportunity to support the profession by encouraging participation.

The survey captures teachers' and school leaders' experiences across Australia, including workload, employment conditions, career intentions, and work-related wellbeing. The results help shape national policies and supports for schools.

The survey is anonymous and takes just 10 minutes. All registered teachers receive their unique survey link via email from their teacher regulatory authority.

We encourage all education stakeholders to:

- Share information about the survey with teachers and leaders in your networks
- Promote it through newsletters, social media and other communications to the profession
- Complete it yourself if you're a registered teacher or leader

Head to AITSL's Promote the Survey page to download resources to help encourage survey participation in your networks. You can find out more information about the survey and check launch dates here.

Help encourage teachers to share their experiences – stronger data today builds a stronger profession tomorrow.
